Friends of Price Park

“Leone Hall Price Park is a special resource for the citizens of Cobb County. Cobb County Parks Department depends on local citizens and the Friends of Price Park to make the necessary investments and improvements so that all interested Cobb citizens can enjoy the Park for years to come!”

Eddie Canon, Director, Cobb County Parks, Recreation & Cultural Affairs

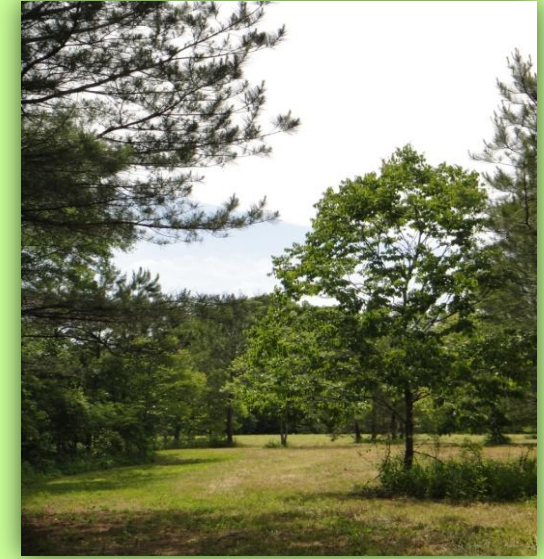

The Natural Place to Be

Leone Hall Price Park

Leone Hall Price Park spans 126 acres and is designated a passive park. With natural trails, meadows, beautiful Allatoona Creek running through it and an array of native plant and animal species, it is a great place to hike, take the kids or dog for a walk and enjoy the quiet respite that nature provides.

The Park is named after Leone Hall Price, who lived across the street from the Park. Mrs. Price gifted the majority of the land that is now Leone Hall Price Park to Cobb County and envisioned it to be a place people can enjoy for generations to come.

How You Can Help

A number of administrative, construction and beautification projects have been identified for 2011-2012. Some projects require financial support, some require in-kind donations and some just need your time, talent and energy. Donations are tax deductible.
